“ Venessa,
Words may not be enough to express how sorry we feel. We cannot imagine the pain and sadness you and your family are going through. I pray to God that He will give you the strength to overcome the pain you are feeling. Please know that you are in our thoughts and prayers.

“ It is with immense sadness that I write this. It breaks my heart to know you are gone too soon. Didn't get the chance to see or talk to you these last years, but doesn't change the fact that it hurts to know you are gone. It was great having you as a friend since Junior High and then High School. I will always remember the fun times in school and your easy-going, fun, genuine personality. My heart and prayers go out to your family in this extremely difficult time. You and Sammy are in a better place looking down at all of us that will forever miss you. May you rest in peace and know you will never be forgotten.

“ I wanted to sincerely express my deep sadness for your family. My heart just broke when I was told about Sammy. For a time Sammy and I ended most days together (in the infant room) rocking in a chair and singing. I have to smile thinking of her kicking off her shoes and climbing into my lap. I enjoyed those times so much. Sammy had such a beautiful smile and special personality. I will miss her so much. Much love, Jennie

“ I'm deeply saddened I didn't get to meet your daughter. Work kept us from making time. Still remember when we met in High School yet one of the few friends I kept in touch with. We would update each other on our lives at All State and reminisce about the good old days. R.I.P Brother may GOD have a special place for you and your daughter.....

“Manny, my heart broke this morning when I heard about the passing of yourself and your little girl. I always remembered you as being such a positive, happy student at Sylmar High School. Ms. Lopez and I had you around 2001 in your biology class. I was happy to have run into you last year at Target and to talk to you for a moment, to see how you were doing in your adult life.

Rest in Peace, Manny. Rest in Peace, Sammy. Much love to you and yours.
