“ There's one more angel in Heaven, my beloved Auntie Nenen. One of my earliest memories is meeting her for the first time on a family trip to Toronto. She hugged me and kissed my cheek. I promptly wiped it off. I just didn't like anybody kissing me back then. Auntie often reminded me that even after she moved to California, she'd kiss me, I'd wipe it off. No matter how many times I complained, she just didn't give up on me, and at some point much later in my life, I came to welcome and cherish those kisses.

For Italians, love and food are virtually the same thing, and Auntie was one of the best cooks ever! Her cookies and her focaccia were legendary. She was kind enough once to make me some for an International Day at my elementary school. All the kids devoured the food. My all-time favorite was her eggplant parmigiana. I've eaten this dish in many restaurants, here in the States and in Italy, but hers beat out all the others.

Maybe I could just taste the love she put into her cooking. Auntie was humble, as many women of her generation were, but I always recognized a tremendous strength of character in her that I deeply admired. She was sweet, funny, loving, loyal ... everything you'd want in an aunt. My family and I feel so lucky to have had her in our lives all these years. Our deepest condolences to her incredible children and grandchildren. Thank you for sharing your incredible mom with us! She will be missed, but forever remembered!
